FAQ

EWYL Lessons

EARN WHILE YOU LEARN is not like most curriculum. EWYL is a program designed specifically for the young mothers (and fathers) who will visit your clinic. This means that the curriculum is written in simple and easily understood language to give all clients the opportunity to learn and grow. It was specifically made to be easily administered without a large investment in training or supplies. Finally, the curriculum is filled with many opportunities to foster relationships between the client and facilitator. In other words, this curriculum is designed to be simple, effective, and powerful.

The EWYL curriculum is divided into packs covering large subjects like Pregnancy, Parenting, Toddlers, Fatherhood, etc. Each pack contains individual modules that are made up of 5 lessons each. Some packs have up to 11 modules (55 lessons) and some have as few as 2 modules (10 lessons).

The Lesson Blueprint

Each lesson starts with a facilitator instruction page that contains all the information an instructor would need to teach the lesson. It lists the resources that will be used in the lesson (DVD, pamphlet, etc.) and explains who the correct audience is for the subject matter. In this one page, the lesson facilitator has all the information needed to complete the lesson.

After the instruction page, the lesson begins. There are two types of lessons in the EWYL program. The first type are DVD lessons which are based on a professionally produced DVD. A reproducible worksheet for the client is included in each lesson and is filled out by the client while the DVD is playing. These simple worksheets emphasize important points of the presentation and reinforce the main concepts. A worksheet key is included for the facilitator to check the answers.

The second type of lesson is written information that should either be read together or by the client alone. In written lessons there are questions designed to help the client understand and apply the information. There are also questions meant to be reviewed with the facilitator that will help build relationships and give the clients a chance to think about what they are learning and how it applies in their own lives.

Lessons also include a reproducible homework sheet that will help the client apply the lesson in their own life. The homework sheet is normally open-ended, with questions to help the clients internalize the information. Some homework needs a small pamphlet to go home to help with the answers while others ask for a simple fun project. Homework will only take the client a few minutes, but it will help them remember the important information they learned for a lifetime.

The 5 Easy Steps of an EWYL Lesson

- Facilitator reviews the personal lesson plan, decides next lesson.
- Facilitator reads instruction page and copies lesson worksheets.
- Client arrives, is greeted and starts on the lesson.
- Facilitator reviews lesson and discussion questions.
- Client takes homework home and returns it on their next visit!

Main Curriculum

Description

Pregnancy to Early Childhood.

The EWYL Main Curriculum covers the important information from the First Trimester to a few months after birth. The first lessons give your client a glimpse into the life growing inside them and the amazing developments happening along the way. It also helps them know what to expect as their pregnancy progresses.

Additional modules cover self-care during pregnancy, proper medical appointments, choosing a doctor, delivery and birth, the importance of bonding, and early infant care. Also included are some special lessons for clients who want or need to take them including: Going it Alone, Adoption, and Smoking and Pregnancy. The Main Curriculum covers what your client needs to know during her pregnancy.

Toddler Pack

Description

These 3 modules cover the parenting skills all mothers will need when raising a toddler.

Parenting toddlers can be tiring... and exciting! Earn While You Learn added the Toddler Pack to help young mothers learn the tools in dealing with all the energy and curiosity a toddler brings to their family. Starting with lessons on age appropriate developments, moving to proper discipline for toddlers and then covering important safety issues, Module T1 is a great start to the Toddler Pack. In Module T2 the lessons move into looking at some of the challenges a toddler can bring and how your clients can "Survive Motherhood." Finally, Module T3 helps mothers understand some ways to make the toddler years be enjoyable while covering some of the more common struggles such as bedtimes, listening, and sleeping issues.

All 15 lessons are perfectly designed for mothers with children in or approaching the toddler years. Each lesson is written in our easily understood format with questions designed to grow relationships and enhance understanding. At the end of every lesson is homework for your client to take home. Most homework in this pack covers information that all mothers of toddlers will need to know including: car seat safety, routines, biting, potty training, whining, new babies and older children and more.

After clients complete the appropriate lessons in the Main Curriculum, the Toddler Pack is here to help them become great moms and raise emotionally and physically healthy children.

PARENTING 101

Those who are currently pregnant and support people

Week 1: Healthy Relationships

What are the characteristics to be found within a healthy relationship? Strong communication? Mutual interest? Similar goals? We discuss what it takes to create and maintain a healthy relationship with one's self, others, and the baby they are carrying.

Week 2: Nutrition

This week's topic focuses on healthy nutrition for expectant moms and their unborn babies. We discuss the food pyramid, tips and tricks for morning sickness, remedies for indigestion, and build a week's menu to put the learning into practice.

Week 3: Budgeting

Providing assistance in determining what a budget is, how to establish a budget, and the importance of maintaining a budget. Key areas to budget towards will be established while including any state assistance each client is receiving and then each client breaks down how it works individually for them.

Week 4: Time Management/Preparing for Baby

Organization and time management is vital in parenting. Whether juggling a schedule with work, family life, hobbies and personal lives feeling prepared upon baby's arrival will help to eliminate some of the angst associated with parenting.

Week 5: Childbirth overview

While a more extensive childbirth class is offered within our groups curriculum there is a need to have a basic understanding of what is to be expected in labor and delivery. Also, perhaps encourage our clients to attend our extended childbirth class.

Week 6: Review, Survey, Celebration

This week is focused on looking back on what has been learned, look ahead at how to implement these lessons, receiving feedback regarding changes that may help to better the Parenting 101 curriculum, and celebrate the investment each client has made in attending these classes. Clients receive a gift of a baby book to track all the new things experienced in pregnancy and infancy.

Parenting 201

Those who have delivered up to 1 year old and support people

Week 1: Parenting styles & techniques

Much of one's parenting style is determined by that which they experienced in their family of origin, thus determining if they want to follow that pattern or set a new one. This lesson focuses on four types of parenting styles: authoritarian, authoritative, uninvolved, and permissive.

Week 2: Developmental Play & Engagement

There are many milestones and discoveries a baby makes within his first year of life. Through this lesson we discuss tummy time, infant massage, and bonding with baby.

Week 3: Safety in the home and community

Many dangers lurk within homes once a baby becomes mobile. During this week precautionary methods are discussed in order to baby proof our homes. The need for safety with those surrounding one's children is also discussed.

Week 4: Nutrition

The need to build a healthy nutritional base is discussed for families. Determining the schedule of implementing baby food, the possibility of making baby food at home and the cost saved in doing so. Also, things to look for in food allergies as new foods are implemented.

Week 5: Support System

In this lesson we discuss the key relationships that exist in a client's life and how those relationships impact the child(ren). Emotional impact is also discussed in acknowledging those who may be positive or negative influences and the need for healthy boundaries.

Week 6: Review, Survey, Celebration

This week is focused on looking back on what has been learned, look ahead at how to implement these lessons, receiving feedback regarding changes that may help to better the Parenting 101 curriculum, and celebrate the investment each client has made in attending these classes. Clients receive a gift of

Parenting 301

Those who have a child between 1-2 years old and support people

Week 1: Discipline/Reward System

As babies become toddlers personalities develop and boundaries are tested. Discipline is an important foundation to begin laying at this stage in order to build upon it in the future. Reward systems/charts are provided and discussed for various developmental needs.

Week 2: Engaging with your toddler

Lullabies and nursery rhymes are shared with clients as they engage with their child in class. Redirection, encouragement, and expression are also discussed.

Week 3: Nutrition

As a baby grows into a toddler nutrition needs change. With this change there are new food options to provide a growing child and some dislikes may be noted. In this class clients learn how to make a healthy fruit smoothie that include essential nutrients that a child may not enjoy on their own.

Week 4: Self Care

In order to pour love and energy into others you must pour energy and love into one's self. Various techniques of encouragement, emotional processing, and healthy outlets/coping skills to implement when feeling overwhelmed or running on empty.

Week 5: What's next...how to implement learning as child grows

How can all of the lessons learned be implemented as a child continues to grow? Focusing on healthy relationships, self care, nutrition, and bonding clients will learn the need to continue to grow with their child.

Week 6: Review, Survey, Celebration

This week is focused on looking back on what has been learned, look ahead at how to implement these lessons, receiving feedback regarding changes that may help to better the

Parenting 101 curriculum, and celebrate the investment each client has made in attending these classes. Clients receive a gift of a memory box and burlap measuring chart to track their child's growth throughout his or her life.

Relationship Smarts

Week 1: Getting Acquainted (journal, string, & puzzle activity)

Making connections and building rapport is key in order to dig deep into the areas of improvement needed within relationships. Each client completes a puzzle piece that identifies with who they are or what they enjoy, a journal to track the learning that takes place in the group class, and an activity that helps to connected commonalities between others.

Week 2: Where does your worth lie? (dove video & unique traits)

This lesson focuses on recognizing the beauty within, the importance of acknowledging gifts that each client possesses. Making a list of unique traits and then assigned homework to ask support people in life to add to this list.

Week 3: Healthy VS Harmful (relationship quiz and bow and arrow activity)

Identifying healthy and harmful relationships in life is vital as a person and as a parent. Within the bow and arrow illustration, it was helpful to see what goes in and what comes out and the need for positive influence.

Week 4: Creating healthy boundaries (circle of support & coffee filter activity)

In this lesson we discuss the key relationships that exist in a client's life and how those relationships impact the child(ren). Emotional impact is also discussed in acknowledging those who may be positive or negative influences and the need for healthy boundaries.

Week 5: Communication (speaker/listener activity and 9 step article)

Healthy communication is one of the biggest keys to healthy relationships. Through the speaker/listener illustration clients are able to acknowledge to listen often times more than what feels natural in order to truly understand the person communicating.

Week 6: Review, survey, celebration

This week is focused on looking back on what has been learned, look ahead at how to implement these lessons, receiving feedback regarding changes that may help to better the Relationship Smarts curriculum.
